

Want to get biomedical lab experience, learn concepts in developmental biology, and enrich your scientific career?

Developmental Biology Short-Course

Course Components: Hands-on lectures, interactive labs, career development workshops, and networking opportunities

Course Dates: May 12th-May 18th, 2019

Location: The University of Michigan-Ann Arbor, MI

Cost: FREE! All expenses are covered by DFB (Accommodations, Travel, Meals)

Applications Accepted: Feb 1st-Mar 24th, 2019

Join our mailing list: Email contactdfb@umich.edu

DFB 2019 Short Course Structure

Laboratories

- Gain hands-on experience working with several animal model organisms

Lectures + Active Learning

- Interactive lectures from leaders in developmental biology

Networking

- Graduate admissions, CV, and bioinformatics workshops
- Learn more about research opportunities at UM

Professional Development

- Network with UM faculty, graduate students, and postdocs

To Apply:

Application Information

1. Visit developingfuturebiologists.com and follow instructions on the Application Link
2. Submit a copy of your CV and unofficial college transcript to contactdfb@umich.edu

Application Deadline: March 24th

Questions? E-mail: contactdfb@umich.edu

Please visit: developingfuturebiologists.com for more info

